TAMMANY WONTHE WITHERS

THE SACHEMS REJOICED MIGHTILY.

PATRON GOT SECOND PLACE AND YORKVILLE

The hearts of the owners of Morris Park glowed with satisfaction as the hosts of spectators came pouring into the gates yesterday. Grand stand, clubb and free field were all populous and gay. Chief among the attractions of the afternoon was the rethe American turf, and the meeting of Yorkville ielle, Patron, Tammany and Dagonet in this race was old and young, veterans and novices, The track was in excellent condition and no rain fell in the course of the afternoon. No disfort in the weather annoyed the spectators, and the railroad service above the Harlem River was swift, prompt and efficient, but below the Harlem on elevated railroads the delays, the crowding and the troubles of all sorts that the unhappy multitude ndured were almost insufferable. The "rapid" transit rovided by the elevated railroads on race days between Hall and the Harlem River is of such withers, so much so that it was almost impossible at any time to get even money against her. Both Patron and Tammany were heavily backed. Louis Stuart and his friends thought Patron invincible in this race, while all the leaders of Tammany Hall, including Richard Croker himself (and of course Mayor Grant). Matthew Byrnes, the trainer, sent word to them all without levying any assessments, and they plunged to loved organization. After the race there was some talk of changing the name of the colt from Tammany to Richard Croker, or Lieutenant-Governor Sheehan but nothing had been settled at last accounts. All the were rumors in the air that Mr. Crain might be asked place of Corporation Counsel Clark or that President Martin of the Police Board. "Nothing's ood for Matt. Byrnes," was the cry. "All th ovs have got their pockets full for Chicago, and have anything he wants," were word passed rapidly from one Tammany man to mother, as they pledged each other in the foaming cless of French grapes, with an occasional relaps into the favorite beverage of Kentucky. many won the Withers easily in 1:40, Patros cond, and Yorkville Belle a poor third. When urphy colled upon the beautiful filly, her response was faint, feeble and soon over, showing conclusively ined to the hour, either. When Mr. Stuart trained Appleby & Johnson many of their horses training, while Mr. Allen throughout his turf career has been celebrated for sending his horses to the Patron and Yorkville Belle had to race them selves into form last year, and they must do it many is a marvel because he won the Withers very rammany is a marver because it is a marver because it is a marver because it is superbounded in a superbound i ry that can run a mile on the Morris Park track in 1:40 or less, and one race, even if it is the Withers, does not make a colt a great racehorse. King Eric once won the Withers in fast time and very easily. Great Eclipse Stakes last year at this track very easily (the Morris Park track suits him), but Tammany was in the first rank of the two-year-olds of 1891. Wait a bit before you crow over Tammany. Let him defeat St. Florian, Locohatches and His Highness now, and Yorkville Beile and Patron a few weeks from now, before you try to make him out a really high-class colt. William Easton's imported filly Astoria won the first race handsomely, running the five furlengs in 65 seconds. The track was very fast, and that fact explains Tammany's 1:40 in the Withers. It was reported after the race that Mr. Easton had received an offer of $10,000 for the filly. She ran as if she might be worth that sum. A startling "tip" was out on Burrick's Emin Bey, who was backed with such confidence that he was made a strong favorite, both in the city and at the track. Emin Bey ran second.

Reckon ought not to have been started in the second race. She was in no condition to run. Thousands of people backed Reckon on her past reputation, and their money was thrown away on account of her unfit condition. Rex won the race, Saile McCielland second, and Reckon third. Canvas, with only $7 pounds up, ran pitifully.

Freemason carried the all scarlet to the front easily in the third race, Hesperus, the favorite, getting second place.

So kennebec was scratched at 2:15. Fifteen minutes later Actor was scratched and Tarah and the mount in the Withers. This was unfortunate for Kennebec.

Andrew McCarthy, the jockey, died at the Fordham Hospital at 1:06 p. m. yesterday from the effects of the injuries which he received on Thursday, when the filly Little Nell ran into the fence. The news caused general sorrow at the track. Formerly McCarthy was under bad influences and behaved badly, but he had mended his ways, and was riding honestly and settfolly.

had mended his ways, and was riding honestly and skiffully.

A man named Cassidy, from Harlem, died suddenly from epileptic convulsions at the main entrance of Morris Park soon after 3 o'clock. He was attended by Dr. Hasbrouck. Cassidy was apparently about twenty-eight years of age.

Talk of a special sweepstakes for three-year-olds has been renewed. The Morrises would like to get up one and would gladly start St. Florian, but it is understood that Mr. Gideon is too timid to enter His Hishest.

First race at 2:30 p. m. NOTES FROM THE TRACK. Entre carried more money than any horse that has started in a race this year, with perhaps the exception of Longstreet. A select party of plungers played him in every poolroom in the country at short price, and his owners had to accept 6 to 5 at the track. Like the King Cadmus victory, it was won by superior jockeyship.

F. A. Ehret has sold Judge Post, Hellgate, Fred F. A. Ehret has sold Judge Post, Hellgate, Fred Lee and Beau Brummel, and intends to dispose of several others, as the stable is getting unwieldly. It will be kept down to twenty horses. The sale of horses in training at Morris Park was a failure, as there were no buyers present. The sale was postponed.

ECHOES OF THE WITHERS. Tammany caused the owners of three-year-olds to revise their plans for the summer campaign, as he won the Withers Stakes so easily that many enthusiastic persons halled him as the champion. M. THE FIRST NIGHT ON THE CASINO ROOF.

OPENING OF THE GARDEN FOR THE SEASON-THE NEW ATTRACTIONS.

Another starless night hung over the Casino for the public opening of the roof garden, with its attractions. The weather is usually damp and cold when anything new occurs on the roof of that theatre, and for pronew occurs on the roof of that theaters, and has be tection against weather it is better to have a roof over-hend than under foot. Yet the temperature of the garden last evening was not uncomfortable, somewhat to the surprise of those who tempted their fortune by going there, and hundreds of people sat at the little tables for two hours or more and found the place gether satisfactory. Mr. Stainville seems likely to made a genuine sensation here with his imitations struck next in popularity. The Espinosa Ballet Quartet made a good impression, and the Barra Troupe gratified the audience with its numerous musical instruments. The performance as a whole is an excellent one, but a description of it has never become uncomfortably crowded, and therefore a limited number of tickets will be sold each evening. Last night the limit was reached at 10 o'clock. The space was well filled, but there was no disagreeable crowding, and if the present arrangements are continued the Casino roof will be a pleasanter summer night resort than it has ever been before.

As examples of the wonderful power which this preparation possesses, the following cases are cited from among a great number: Mr. C. A. Whitman, of Adams, Mass, was afflicted with extreme nervousness, so much so that he says: "Any little thing would set me shaking, so that I could not work. I was also very irritable and could not sleep nights. After taking two botties of Paine's celery compound I found a decided improvement and commenced on the third bottle. I do not take it regularly now, but if I get over-tired or nervous I take two or three doses and it relieves me. I gained in strength and weight, and am as well as I ever was."

Here is another case from Massachusetts: Mr. J. The Bagley, of Wakeleld, writing in May, says that he had down. Do not mistake weak nerves for dyspepsia, and remember that this great preparation is the acknowledged remedy for weak and tired nerves.
